BUG DEATH

To kill any bug or worm that eats the leaf, blossom or flower of any plant, tree or vine that grows use Bug Death. And the best of all, it will not do the slightest injury, as it is absolutely harmless, containing no arsenic or arsenical poisons of any nature. Bug Death is a powder that may be dusted on the plants, trees or vines, or mixed with water for spraying purposes. It kills bugs and insects but does not injure the plant. The birds may "peck" it from the leaves, the honey bees take it from the flowers, and domestic animals eat stalks, leaves and vines where Bug Death has been used without ill effects. Why kill everything in sight at the same time, you would kill the bugs and worms when such an effective, harmless and inexpensive preparation as Bug Death is "at your service."
